Further, the rating continues to derive comfort from experienced management and established track record of operations. The rating also factors its repeat orders from reputed and diversified clientele, increase in scale of operations and margins, medium term revenue visibility and comfortable operating cycle. However, these ratings are constrained by less diversified customer base and regulatory risk that might arise in future.

Key Rating Weaknesses:

Press Release

Less diversified customer base

Elta Systems which is a part of Israel Aerospace Industries (IAI), is the major contributor in total revenue, contributing ~54.00% of the total revenue. Although it shows customer concentration risk, given the nature of business, there is generally limited customer base. IAI has an Outstanding rating from S&P of “BBB’ and Israel national scale rating from S&P of “iIAA+”. The Customer concentration risk is mitigated by the reputed customer base, strong credit rating and long-term association with its clientele.

Exposure to Regulatory Risk

Defence is a highly regulated industry. Any changes in Offset Programme by Ministry of Defence, India might impact on the order inflow though it is unlikely to happen soon considering India’s dependency on foreign OEMs for defence sector related requirements. Also, the company has an unexecuted orderbook position of ~Rs.2580.83 Crores and many potential orders are currently under discussion. Company expects pipeline order to the tune of Rs.4500.00 Crores in the next 1-2 years. With the increase in Defence requirement and the huge Backlog of Off-set obligations from the overseas Defence OEM’s, the revenues will continue to surge for the years to come.
